Coc heroes upgrade guide

• What about clasher! It's Tom here (@HouseofClashers) and in this tutorial I'll give some tips on the upgrade process for Heroes, how to get resources and how to optimize your upgrades! EARLY START• This is probably the most important tip for beginners: start as soon as possible. Upgrading the Queen to level 45, without moaning the timer, takes 262 days!!! So the better, the sooner you start, the better. Don't waste time, heroes are the biggest upgrade priority in clash of clans! The king is unlocked at City Hall 7. As soon as you arrive, max for this Town Hall (level 5) and unlock capacity. Keep doing this every time you upgrade your Town Hall.DARK ELIXIR• That's pretty obvious, you'll need tons of dark elixir to upgrade your heroes and unless you want to spend a lot of money on the game, you need to steal a lot of dark elixir. Farm, farm, farm. When attacked, always look for the position of drills and storage. Sometimes the Dark Elixir is in the drills, so if it is possible to check it first and find out is the village is abandoned. For more information, see Inactive Bases. • Another important thing is to save and protect the Dark Elixir you already have. Don't miss the Dark Elixir to agricultural troops (Minions, Bowlers), save yourself from major war attacks, heroes and the lab. You can easily grow it with archers, barbarians and giants. • If you have tons of dark elixir ready to be stolen, you will be attacked, it is part of the game. You'll go crazy when you lose 3k DE in a single defense, but remember: Clash of Clans is about attacking and being attacked. Don't worry, all you have to do is steal more than you lose... and Clan on! Quick tip. Don't keep dark storage, drills and City Hall too close. Scattering them all over the village, so the attacker will only steal all his Dark Elixir is that he gets 100%. UPDATE ANYWAY• At least, don't keep your levels very far away. The reason? While upgrading a hero you will use the others on the farm, so you basically need both heroes to be strong, even if you have a favorite. • Another reason is to keep them around the same level is cost. Lower levels are cheaper to upgrade and have a better cost/benefit. For example, the cost of upgrading the queen to level 30 (145k) is enough to upgrade the king 3 times if it is only level 10. • Think about ability: give some priority to the Hero who is almost reaching a new level of capacity. If the Queen is 34 and King 31, upgrade the Queen first to reach level 35 and reach a new skill level. • If you have a favourite hero (usually the Queen), you can give her some priority and update until she reaches a new skill level (a new skill level is reached each hero levels). Once if you get there, update the King to match the same level. Reaching new skill levels is very important. BOOST DRILLS• If you are F2P, ignore this advice. If you spend money, this is the best Dark Elixir value you can get in your gems. Buying Dark Dark directly it is very, very expensive, so the impulse of the drills is the only reasonable way to obtain resources with their gems. • Boosting the drills will not give all the Dark Elixir you need at the same time, but with patience and farming it will greatly help you improve the Heroes.PLAN AHEAD • By updating one hero, using the other to cultivate and get resources to start another update as soon as possible. • Maxing out the Heroes is a very difficult task in this game, but it's worth the problem. They are by far the most important offensive troop. • Good luck and Shock! Updating your heroes is, on the one hand, but the most important thing to do in clash of clans and on the other hand also the most frustrating and annoying too. Suit yourself because you will have to and there is no way to avoid it if you want to have fun in Clash of Clans and the longer you wait, the more painful it will be for you. In this post, I hope to show you how to coordinate hero updates more efficiently to get them to the highest level faster with less pain for you in addition to some additional hero update tips. Updating heroes... Pain and winning qualifying heroes is important, I've already mentioned that – the longer you wait to do it, the more pain it will be to improve them. You will have downtime, but with the right strategy you can still improve without losing as much. I have below some good running techniques that you can use to still enjoy the game while updating your royals (also if you are a war player) plus one for the battle machine at the end of this guide. First, let's jump to some general tips. Keep your level of heroes close. Why should you keep your level of heroes to each other? Well, there are several things that make this the best strategy. Always keep an active hero, so there's at least one gallant king or queen available to make your daily attacks, even if you probably won't participate in WarYour clan attacking and defending won't be too unbalanced as it would be when one of them is way ahead at the level. Imagine that your AQ is level 30 and level 10 of the BK: when you update your IQ, your BK is much lower that you won't be able to make attacks at the same level as with your active AQ. Also, always consider the importance of Level 5 steps: Each of their heroes will be improved either with the Barbarians Kings Iron Fist or the Royal Layer Archer Queens increasing their potential damage greatly. You can see the steps that heroes take over. When, for example, your Queen Archer i.e. level 17, and your barbaric king is level 19, you should consider upgrading the barbaric king first. Climbing to level 20 will get the strongest iron fist and therefore the biggest boost thus offsetting the alternative value of what Queen Archer to level 18. [rp posts=15963 name=Great Guide to King Barbarian] [rp posts=15957 name=Big Archer Queen Guide] Technique of updating heroes (war and non-war related)The related)The technique depends on what is positioned in Clan Wars is: Do you have to participate in the Clan War? Do you need all the active heroes in the Clan War? Casual Player, can you skip clan war or participate without all the active heroes? For each of these cases, I have a great strategy ☺ Care! Note that all these strategies require you to get the Book of Heroes every two Clan Games when you are availableAgrade your heroes while you participate in every clan war if you are a very serious war player who has to participate in every Clan War and is not allowed to come with a missing hero, you will improve the slowest (if you don't want to use a lot of gems). Obviously, you can only do a hero update when you have a hero book that will allow you to skip the update, so that you can expect to do a level update every 2 weeks. If your clan allows you to come with an upgrade hero to war, you can improve much more. Queen Archer is her most powerful hero and always wants to have her available - so she will always use her Book of Heroes on her. In the meantime, you need to cultivate enough dark elixir to keep your barbaric king improving. The barbaric king is not that central element of his attack and you can perform well without him (if you're allowed to do that). => That's 2 King Barbara Level and 1 Queen Archer Level in 2 weeks!So you need all your active heroes at war, you probably have to skip a week of Clan War here and there - but try to make the best of it! With the right time, you can get 3 hero upgrades made during this time! You grow the Elixir for your Grand Warden upgrade plus all the Dark Elixir you can get (possibly filling your storage completely). On Day 1, you will begin your Great Guardian and Barbarian King update so you now have 7 days of time to do the Queen Archer update (you will skip with a heroes book at the end of the 7 days). You can perfectly farm with only your Archer Queen available (as I've written here in my guide);[rp posts=14599 name=Farming Without Heroes/Low Heroes]Again, you have 7 days of time to get the dark elixir together that you need and in the end you will instantly skip Queen Archer's update so you have it updated by the time the barbaric king and great warden This will help you not skip more clan wars than necessary and you get a Level 3 upgrade in total – and theoretically you can do that every 2 weeks when you get a new hero book (well, as long as you're active enough to cultivate the resources needed for upgrades). Remember! Queen Archer is her most valuable hero, so use the Book of Heroes exclusively in her [rp posts=43891 name=All Magical Items & How To Get battle machinenew base, new hero. I think most of us rolled our eyes when we just heard of a new hero who will start an update grind again. Well, the battle machine is so far a relatively easy hero to upgrade and upgrade it to level 5 will be enough as Damage boost from level 10 isn't that great at all – all you need is capacity for now. Also, if you've reached BH7 you'll see that a 20 battle machine level isn't really much stronger than a level 15 battle machine because of the giant cannon.–The battle machine has another big advantage when it comes to upgrading it – it won't be available during versus battles, but the upgrade time with 2 days will allow you to get your full daily reward. The daily reward is stacked up to 2 days, so you can just stop attacking during upgrade time and get the reward in the next day. Read here all about coolings:[rp posts=42959 name=Star Bonus & Versus Battle Rewards Cooldown Guide][rp posts=43098 name=Big Battle Machine Guide]Myth about using upgrade heroes in WarBefore every update, there are tons of rumors that Supercell will allow us to use hero upgrade in clan warfare, but they have been fake every time. In fact, gemming hero upgrade time due to clan warfare is one of Supercell's biggest revenue streams, so the chances of us allowing us to use hero upgrade is less than 1%Don't wait with hero updates, each has to do it in a moment! The farming of the Dark Elixir Dark Elixir farming is not just a lot of work, but it's also hard because most of you will have some hero update working right now – so you'll need! An attacking strategy that doesn't cost a lot of dark elixir This attacking strategy has to get at least 1 and 2 star attacks with only 1 hero available A base that protects Dark Elixir! have two great attack strategies for you [rp posts=6437 name=Dark Elixir Farming Strategies]If you are looking for some base designs to use, always check if they are having Dark Elixir storage in the kernel and well protected. You can find some here along with some darker tips from Elixir [rp posts=11447 name=Dark Elixir Farming Tips and Base Designs]ConclusionUpgrading your Heroes is the biggest challenge in Clash of Clans - this will take you so much time and effort, but with a little structure and stamina, you can do it. Don't miss your goal and I promise you after a couple of weeks that you'll get used to it.PS: Before you hate the comments that heroes should be available during the Clan War, please note that I'd love to see this, but it's Supercell's decision not to...
